

Blue (stone) skies shining on me....

If you have been following this section, you will know that given we are called Bluestone, we thought it only fitting that each week we dig out a track that has the word 'blue' in its lyrics or title.

What better way to start the working week than with some music?

This week we have chosen a smooth classic, Blue Skies, by Willie Nelson.

Cows in curlers...well, almost

The nightmares began for Ashlea Wines about a fortnight ago. Cows were running loose, judges failed to show up, the rain came down in bucketloads and Ashlea left all of the prizes at home.

Our quiet heroes: the Holden club

[/dropcap] UR choice of quiet hero for this week is a very personal one, based on my brother Glenn's recent 50th birthday party.

Reaching 50 years of age is a significant milestone for Glenn, who has Down's Syndrome, so his party needed something special.

This is where the members of the Western Victoria Holden Car Club come in. I contacted the club through its president, Peter Dunn, to see if I might be able to hire a car to arrive at Glenn's party and, maybe, take him for a short ride.

The group had a club event already scheduled for that day, but, despite this, Peter called around and organised for two of the most beautiful, restored Holdens (a Sandman panel van and a Holden FC) to be available.

Glenn's face lit up when they arrived, but he was, unfortunately, unable to ease himself out of his wheelchair and into the front seat of the Sandman.

No problem: Graeme, the car's proud owner, scooped him up and put him in.

And around the block they went. In fact, several blocks.

The club refused to take any payment, so we instead made a donation to Down's Syndrome Victoria as part of its everyday hero campaign.

This club is certainly made up of everyday heroes.

Our quiet heroes: those

Looking after nature

Ann and Stella from Warrnambool Coastcare Landcare.

[dropcap style="font-size: 60px; color: #8F9F59;"] One of the many beautiful things about living in South-West Victoria is the wild environment that surrounds us, from the ocean, to the rivers, the estuaries and the native bush.

While we are so fortunate to have access to such natural beauty, there is a legion of volunteers who are doing their bit to keep it that way and to reduce the environmental impact of humans.

South-West Victoria is home to several well-established and active environmental groups, including Friends of Merri Marine Sanctuary, Making a Difference for the Merri, Friends of Ralph Illidge Sanctuary and the Warrnambool Coastcare Landcare Group.

It is the latter that we have chosen as our hero of the week after finding two of its members – Ann and Stella – hard at work digging out weeds and knee-high grass from an area known as Harris on Merri, near the Rail Trail in South Warrnambool.

We reckon that getting down on your hands and knees and weeding for several hours in order to make a public space more beautiful is worthy of reward: if only the small one that we offer. Thankyou Ann and Stella, and all those like you.

If you would like to know more about landcare groups in the area, the Basalt to Bay Landcare Network is a great place to start. Check their website here.
