

Remembering Eva: an arts matriarch

Remembering Eva Gaspar: an arts matriarch.

W'bool losing its character, brick by brick

Analysis: Surely we can do better than this?

WCC continues to close off public scrutiny

Analysis: WCC continues to close off public scrutiny.

Tehan remains opposed to marriage equality

Wannon MP Dan Tehan remains opposed to marriage equality.

Win a night and dinner at The Merrijig Inn

The historic Merrijig Inn in Port Fairy. Image: Merrijig Inn.

CLOSED – WINNER ANNOUNCED IN JULY 19 EDITION

[dropcap style="font-size: 60px; color: #A02F2F;"]W[/dropcap]e like to reward our loyal subscribers for the enormous part they play in making sure Bluestone Magazine keeps going and growing.

This time, we are offering our subscribers the chance to win a night in a king suite at the historic and gorgeous Merrijig Inn, Port Fairy, together with an $80 voucher toward dinner in the sublime Merrijig Kitchen.

The first 50 subscribers to email us at editor@bluestonemagazine.com.au with the answer to this question will go in the draw: "What are first names of the two women who run the Merrijig?"

To help you out, here is a link to our earlier story on the owners.

Thankyou to the Merrijig, who are supporters of Bluestone Magazine, for helping us to offer this fantastic prize.

Are you not a subscriber yet? What are you waiting for? Join us here for \$85 a full year.