

This jellybean is really jumpin'

Creators like Johanna Glennen have found a way around balancing their craft with raising their children: they are taking their work online.