Staying quiet and small, but in for the long haul

Investigative journalism in the regions is facing unprecedented pressures from all corners.